November Trip Report

It was a beautiful morning when we gathered to go on our first snow bashing trip of the season. We followed the day's trip leader, Dan Venrick, out of the parking lot and up highway 14. As we drove along the Poudre River, we were all looking for the snow that was promised. We didn't see any snow until we turned off Highway 14 onto the Pingre Park road and even then it was just a patch here and there.

As we gained altitude, there was more and more snow on the ground. We stopped just after we turned onto the Crown Point road to air down and lock in our hubs.

This stop gave us time to get a vehicle count, 22 in all.

About a half of a mile in, everyone was in 4WD. It wasn't to long before a few of us got sucked into the giggly weeds and they had to be strapped out. By the time we got to the Black Hollow turnoff, the snow drifts were deeper and the front snow bashers had to make several runs to make it through the wind blown drifts. By now it was the usual snow bashing trip, hurry up and wait. Dan was up front bashing his way through the big drifts.

Even after he had them busted, those that were behind him had to either be strapped or winched from the borrow pits.

With so many vehicles and the slow going, it was decided to split into two groups. Dan would continue on the main road while Coyote John would take a second group down into Black Hollow. The master plan was to meet at the parking area where the two roads join together again. It sounded like a great plan. The main road group finally got everyone through the biggest drift and continued on up the road with very little problem except for a couple of the longer drifts. This bunch could hear on the CB that Johns group was having some difficulty of their own. The trees were so thick and the road narrow that they were being battered by branches all along the way. When John got to a clearing he had to really gas it to get through the drifts.

John got to a fork in the road where you are supposed to stay left but couldn't make the steep grade so they went right on a road that would eventually take them to Crown Point Road also.

Dan's group waited quite awhile up on top. A few turned around and headed back to town while the rest decided to head down into Black Hollow to meet Johns bunch. Brett was leading in his Farm-All. Along the way Bob P. was having traction problems and Brett had to strap him most of the way. Just about the time Brett was ready to find a turn around to get Bob back up the road, he ran into Johns tracks and the two groups got into a massive traffic jam.

After getting everybody turned around, they started heading out. Because Brett had been overheating pulling Bob down hill, John said he would pull Bob back up. When John was backing up through the narrow trees to retrieve Bob, he caught some tree branches and ripped his soft top. It must not have been Bob's day as now he was almost out of gas.

John huffed and puffed but eventually reached the main road with Bob in tow. Bob's Toyota FJ-40 has now earned a new nickname, the "PULL TOY". Everybody made it to the top of the hill. We all will have lots of stories to tell about this fun day of snow bashing with the Mountaineer family.

December Club Trip

Because we weren't sure where the snow would fall, this month's Club Trip, it will be announced at the Club Meeting. Please meet at the normal place. North Albertson's parking lot N. College Ave and Wilcox at 9 AM Sunday Dec. 19th.

Trip Reminders

Just a reminder, all trips leave the Albertsons parking lot promptly at 9:00 am (unless otherwise noted in the newsletter). You should have a full gas tank, shopping done, lunch packed, dogs walked and potty stop completed by the leave time. It is not fair to hold up all the rest of the group who got there early and got their business done before hand.
